SAND CAVE, AT LAST, YIELDS ITS VICTIM'S BODY

FORT PAYNE BANKER TO HEAD GROUP ONE; ACCEPT 'NOOGA'S BID

Bankers Finish Lively Day Here With Dance At Valley Club

BANQUET GIVEN AT LYONS HOTEL

Business and Pleasure Are Interspersed On The Program

G. I. Weatherly, of Fort Payne, Ala., last night was elected vice president of Group One, Alabama Bankers Association at the business session of the group, following their banquet at the Lyons hotel.

Chattanooga will have the pleasure of entertaining the group at its 1926 gathering, if the vote of the meeting prevails. The group vice president is permitted to select the meeting place, but after Chattanooga's invitation to meet there was given, the bankers carried unanimously a motion that the invitation be accepted.

The group meeting was called to order Wednesday afternoon by F. A. Bloodworth, 1925 group vice president in the initial business meeting of the convention in the Y. M. C. A. The invocation was offered by Dr. W. P. Reeves, pastor of the Central Baptist church after which the visitors were extended a cordial welcome to the Twin Cities by Charles H. Eyster.

The response was delivered by T. C. Sanford, vice president of the Sheffield National bank, who expressed the pleasure of the bankers in meeting here, and their appreciation of the warm welcome that they had received.

Adolphe Hohenberg, president of the First National bank of Wetumka delivered an interesting address pointing out the advantages of membership in the American Bankers Association. He described the scope of the work being undertaken by the national organization and urged that every bank affiliate with the association, in order that its program of progress might be pushed more rapidly toward consummation.

E. W. McLeod of Huntsville chairman of the educational committee, made a comprehensive report of the work being accomplished by this department of the bankers' organization, his address stirring his hearers to even greater achievement.

A round table discussion of the legislative program of the association conducted by W. W. Fussell, chairman of the legislative committee. The bankers present offered and discussed several propositions looking to the improvement of the legislative side of banking.

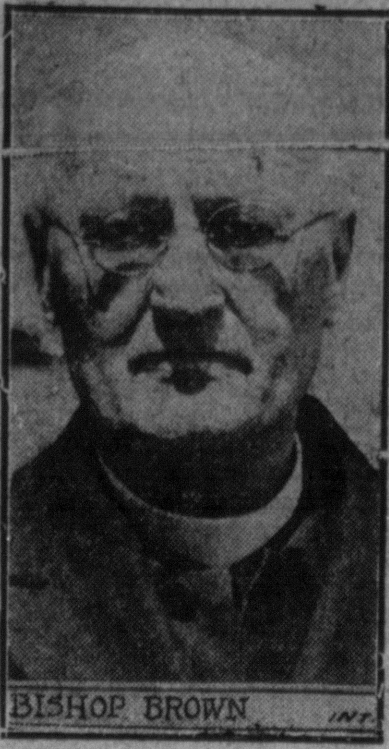

Banquet Enjoyed

Last night the visiting bankers, local officials, directors and employees of the four Twin City banking institutions were delightfully entertained at a banquet at the Lyons hotel. Grace was asked by Rev. J. D. Hunter and the guests then sang one stanza of "America."

More than 100 were seated when, during the service of the splendid repast Toastmaster Bloodworth introduced Marvin Rankin, secretary and song leader of the Kiwanis club, who entertained the assemblage for several minutes with various "stunts" of his own composition, at the expense of visiting and local guests. He successfully led several choruses numbers assisted by Robert Daniell at the piano. Mr. Daniell having been introduced by Mr. Rankin as "a link in the Tennessee Valley chain."

Mr. Rankin, assuming the prerogatives of the vice chairman, urged the appointment of a new chairman of the educational committee because there had been no improvement and the appointment of a new chairman of the legislative committee because there had been too much improvement and sought to obtain some plan for making banking institutions warmer, declaring there was no colder place in the world in mid-summer than the sanctuary of the lending population. The sketch of Mr. Rankin was very entertaining and in the vernacular of

Ban on Bishop

BISHOP BROWN

Bishop William Montgomery Brown, of Arkansas, who was unfrocked by the Protestant Episcopal House of Bishops, following his trial last year on charges of homosexuality, came to New York to speak at St. Mark's Church in the Bowdoin on the subject, "Are Heresy Trials of Any Use?" Bishop Manning, of New York, sent a letter to Dr. Guthrie, pastor of the church, "forbidding" him to allow Dr. Brown to speak. At first Dr. Guthrie said Dr. Brown would be allowed to talk in the church, but as the time neared for Dr. Brown to make his address, Dr. Guthrie announced that "out of courtesy to Bishop Manning, Bishop Brown will not plead his cause in St. Mark's Church."

WHEELER RESUMES HIS STORY ON STAND

Montana Senator Gives Detailed Account of New York Visit

(Associated Press)
GREAT FALLS, Montana, April 23.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler resumed the witness stand in his trial here today to complete the story of his connection with Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, for whom he is accused of illegally appearing before the department of the interior in prosecution of oil land permits.

District Attorney John Slattery, at the outset, questioned the senator about his trip to Europe in 1923. Senator Wheeler said he went because he thought a first hand story of foreign relations would aid him in the senate.

After a dozen questions along this line the prosecutor switched to Senator Wheeler's testimony about a dinner he attended in New York March 16, 1923, the night he sailed for Europe.

The government's star witness, George P. Hays, testified he met Wheeler in New York on the night of March 16 and that Wheeler asked him to appear in his place before the department.

Senator Wheeler denied on the witness stand yesterday that he met Hays in New York and accounted for the time spent in New York by testifying he went shopping and attended a dinner and opera in the evening.

"Who was at this dinner," asked the attorney.
"Well, there were Colonel E. M. House, Mrs. House, a Mrs. Griswold, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and a Col. Stone. Colonel Stone had just returned from an assignment in the A. E. F. and was the guest of honor."

Fire Destroys City Hall Birmingham

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23.—Fire this afternoon destroyed the Birmingham city hall with a loss of $300,000. The blaze originated in the attic of the building which is a five story brick structure. No lives were reported to have been lost.

A number of prisoners in the city hall were removed to the county jail. The public library on the fourth floor was completely destroyed.

The entire fire fighting force of the city was called out in an effort to stop the spread of the flames.

WORST ELEVATOR FIRE IN YEARS

Police Reserves Take Charge of Crowd Of Thousands

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 23.—More than 2,000,000 bushels of corn and oats, belonging to the Grain Marketing Corporation, were destroyed in a fire which started shortly before midnight, burning two wooden elevators and threatening an industrial section of the Southside before it was subdued early today.

The loss was estimated at $2,250,000 by Emanuel F. Rosenbaum, president of the Rozenbaum Grain Corporation through which the elevators were leased to the Farmers Co-operative Organization.

Destruction of the grain, he estimated at $1,500,000 and of the structures among the oldest wooden elevators here at $750,000.

Nearly half of the fire fighting force of the city was called out, by Chief Seyferlich, who called it the worst grain elevator fire in a score of years. Sparks and burning brands started 15 small fires in the vicinity and the heat was so intense firemen were unable to get within 150 feet of the burning structures.

Blazing grain, pouring into the south branch of the Chicago river, clogged the stream and threatened shipping, forcing withdrawal of two fire tugs.

Police reserves were called to control several thousand spectators endangered by falling walls. Search was started, after the fire, for an aged watchman and his wife, believed to have been quartered in one of the buildings. Police and firemen could not learn if they were asleep when the fire was discovered or had been sheltered by neighbors.

Crosses Burned Over Des Moines

(Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 23.—The simultaneous burning here last night of fiery crosses in various parts of the city, including the state capitol grounds, aroused in one section a number of negroes who threatened the lives of two alleged Ku Klux members and kept the fire department busy with calls from residents who feared burning embers, carried by high winds, would cause damage.

One negro was arrested.

The demonstration was said to be an attempt by the Klan to arouse interest in a membership campaign. Crosses were burned on the flagpole of the municipal building, which houses police headquarters on the courthouse grounds, and at practically every school house ground in the city.

RICHMOND, Va., April 23.—The Vermont conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today, by unanimous vote, favored the proposition submitted by the general conference for merger of the churches.

DELEGATES AGAINST 'UNIFICATION' PLAN NAMED TO MEETING

Indirect Negative Vote For Merger Given By the District

EIGHT DELEGATES ARE ELECTED

Decatur District Meet Brought To End At First Methodist

The proposed unification of the Northern and Southern branches of the Methodist church received an indirect negative vote from the Decatur district conference, which adjourned here late yesterday.

The conference which had been in session in the First Methodist church since Monday evening, elected eight delegates to the North Alabama conference, who were known to be opposed to the proposed merger of the two branches of the church. Methodist leaders said.

Delegates and alternates chosen include: delegates—L. P. Troup, W. W. Callahan, John Cooper, M. K. Clements, C. W. Sarver, M. Patillo, S. J. Griffin and P. B. Roberts. Alternates—R. H. Richardson, W. H. Day, M. G. Vest, J. M. Bright, Jim Cain, Marvin West, R. V. Bracken and Winfrey Johnson.

The North Alabama conference will convene the latter part of October in Huntsville. Well known Methodists of the Twin Cities stated today that the personnel of the list of delegates and alternates elected to the meeting would insure a negative vote on the merger from the Decatur district representatives.

The conference concluded yesterday was one of the largest attended in several years in this district and an immense amount of work was concluded during the business sessions, while the inspiration furnished by the speakers, it was believed, would result in immeasurable good.

The next meeting of the Decatur district conference will be held at Lebanon church, Athens circuit.

EXPOSITION TENTS ERECTED THURSDAY

Numerous Booths Built In the Car Shed For The Show

Exposition tents are being erected on Second avenue, the manufacturers tent coming first and it is in front of the street car building. Then comes the agriculture tent and the big tent for the automobile show last. All of the tents will be connected.

Numerous booths have been erected in the street car building and everything is going forward rapidly. Indications are the coming event will be one of the largest here in many years.

Kentucky Party Will Visit Valley

(Associated Press)

SHEFFIELD, Ala., April 23.—The board of trade Louisville, Ky., is sending a party of 150 members here on May 28 to view the government projects located at Muscle Shoals, a recent announcement states.

W. E. Morrow, secretary of the Louisville organization, has written to the authorities here and requested a list of the local celebrities and places here, it is also announced. He stated in his letter that he wished for the party to have easy access to all this information, as the trip was planned as an extensive and thorough one.

It has also been announced here recently that efforts are being made to stock Wilson Lake here with game fish. Congressman E. B. Almon has made a statement to the effect that he hopes to have the government send a carload of fish here in the fall with

Attempt To Rob Bank Is Failure

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, April 23.—Burglars failed in an attempt to rob the vault of the Bank of Alabama at Ensley, sometime last night, and after a leisurely attempt, gave up the job and left their tools at the scene it was discovered this morning.

Attempts were made to drill a hole into the wall from the outside, adjoining the bank. Chisels and hand drills were used in penetrating the plaster, until the pile wall was reached, which stopped the drillers.

If the hole had been finished it would have come out in the office of the vice president, it was said, and it would have been necessary to drill through another wall to reach the vault.

The yeggmen were working directly in line with the front door of the studio and could have been seen easily by anyone passing the door.

Several chisels, drills and screw drivers, together with an acetylene tank, weighing about 125 pounds, were left in the studio. They were taken in charge by the police as the only clues left.

MEMORIAL SERVICE OF K. OF P. SUNDAY

Noted Singers Add Greatly to Annual Services

Hermoine Lodge, No. 16, Knights of Pythias will pay fitting tribute to deceased members on Sunday April 26 when a large number of Pythians will assemble at the Bank street Castle hall to comply with the beautiful custom of paying honor to the dead.

The program committee deserves much credit for the untiring program which is a credit not only to the lodge but to the entire community, and as this will be an open meeting a large number of non-members are expected to be present when the convention is called to order at 3 o'clock. It is well known that Hermoine Lodge has the reputation of always putting things over in good order, considering the interest already manifested and the special efforts made, this promises to be one of the best Memorial and Decoration programs ever rendered by Hermoine Lodge.

In addition to the ritualistic form of service, which will be conducted by the officers of the lodge, appropriate addresses by both local and out of town speakers have been arranged for the occasion, Judge Hugo L. Black of Birmingham, Ala., being the principal speaker. Included in the list is Past Grand Charcellor T. M. Dix who will deliver short eulogies on the lives of P. Makres, J. H. Calvin, W. A. Pryor and Thos. H. Hobart who have departed this life since the last Memorial Convention held by Hermoine Lodge.

A number of beautiful vocal selections are to be sung by B. B. Pickens and Miss Margaret Clarkson and will add much to the occasion.

Immediately following the conclusion of the Memorial services at the Castle Hall the convention will adjourn to the city cemetery to conduct the decoration service of the order, decorate the graves of deceased members of the lodge.

STREET MARKERS ARE BEING PLACED

Signals Will Reflect Oncoming Lights of Approaching Cars

The new street markers, recently purchased by the City of Decatur as a "try-out" plan to discover better means of traffic regulation are being installed on several of the busier corners.

The markers are set in the streets showing only about a foot and a half above the surface. Their interior is finished with a glass which is said to catch the lights of approaching cars at night and reflect the light as red guiding motorists around the turning point at the corners.

The smaller "silent policemen" are said to be without danger in case one is hit by a car. At the same time they are thought to be more durable than painted markers. The outcome of the experiment will be watched with interest, and if successful it is probable that additional markers will be placed on other streets. The court of appeals announces decision in the following Morgan County cases:

MORTAL REMAINS OF FLOYD COLLINS WILL LIE IN STATE

Burial Will Occur On a Hill Overlooking the Crystal Cave

BODY IS VIEWED BY SPECTATORS

Rescuer Doesn't Want Anyone to Doubt Collins Found

(Associated Press)

CAVE CITY, April 23.—Sand Cave has yielded its prisoner and today the body of Floyd Collins, taken from the bottom of the shaft, after resting there overnight, lies in a Cave City undertaking parlor.

Burial will be on a hill overlooking Crystal Cave, a cavern which the explorer discovered several years ago.

A limestone and sandstone rock, weighing about 75 to 100 pounds, which pinned Collins left leg, as he was crawling from the depth of a newly discovered pit; was removed last night by miners employed by the victim's brother.

The body was freed for the first time since January 30, when the falling rock caught Collins and held him fast, while hundreds of volunteer workers struggled 17 days to free him.

Today they attached a hook to a rope, fastened about the body, and raised the crumpled mass by means of a hand hoist. Wrapped in cloth the body reached the top of the shaft, while several score of curious visitors watched.

After being placed on a stretcher an improvised sack was removed from the head, and W. H. Hunt, miner in charge of the recovery work, asked the spectators to walk past the cot and view its burden.

"Pass by and look at the body closely," said Hunt, "I don't want anybody to go away and say we brought up a hunk wrapped in rags."

One of the miners, J. S. Smith, asked the group kneel while the Rev. R. V. Neel of Bowling Green, Ky., offered a prayer. Rev. Neel gave thanks for the recovery of the body.

VETCH TURNED TO AID SOIL BUILDING

Morgan Farmers Use Product to Help In Enriching Land

By J. C. Ford, County Agent

Within a few days a number of Morgan County farmers will be turning under vetch for the enrichment of land for cotton and corn production. Due to dry weather last fall, most of this vetch got a late start. The dry weather of the last few weeks has not been favorable to a minimum growth so the vetch is smaller than usual, but has made sufficient growth to be of great value in enriching the land.

Among those who have vetch to turn under are: H. A. McClellan, Joe Stephenson, Joe Stephenson, Lucier Moore, Malcolm Julian, R. M. Payne, James Johnson, D. P. Sharpe, Geo. Genter, C. C. Cook, W. E. Bean, R. D. Foote, C. H. Ryan and M. C. Yancy. There are numerous others, but I happen not to have their names listed.

If you live near one of those named see their vetch before it is turned and then watch the crop that follows it. Fertilizer will grow crops but vetch will build land. Watch these people and then sow vetch next fall.

THE BLUE CIRCLE

By Elizabeth Jordan

It was one of annoyance and not one of anxiety or strain.

"Exactly," he said, with an air of relief. "Please ignore it."

"You may be sure that I shall do so, as far as I can. And, in any event, I shall ask no questions. But—Mr.
Campbell—" It was Renshaw who was self-conscious now. His face had taken on the deep, unbecoming flush his new master had already seen there. "There's one point on which I should like your instructions. Am I to understand that I am not to report to you anything unusual I may see or —or hear? May I assume that you know about it?"

Campbell's self-consciousness gave place to an expression of surprise mingled with doubt.

"Do you mean that you have already heard or seen anything unusual?" he quickly asked.

Renshaw hesitated. Everything had been so normal, so human, so reassuring this morning, that the experience of the previous night, the noise of that crawling thing in the corridor, already seemed like a dream. Still, this, if ever, was the time to speak.

"Nothing of importance," he said slowly. "Merely some unusual noises
in the hall."

"Unusual noises? What kind of noises?"

"Why, rather as if a very heavy weight were being dragged along—that kind of thing."

Renshaw spoke unwillingly. He felt, and looked, rather foolish.

"Perhaps something was," Campbell was himself again, smiling his charmingly whimsical smile. "There's a lot of work to be done in this house. Possibly a trunk was being moved—"

"But—it was midnight."

Campbell raised his eyebrows. Then he laughed.

"I'm afraid we're magnifying trifles," he said good-humoredly. "But I'll say this much before we drop the subject.
We have no reason to fear anything that is in the house, and personally I don't believe we have anything to fear from outside. But if you should at any time see suspicious-looking individuals lurking around, in the grounds or on the road, let me know." He broke off with a grimace. "It sounds like melodrama, doesn't it? But the fact is, I suppose we've got to keep our eyes open."

"Very well, sir. Our understanding is that nothing unusual I observe inside the house is to be reported, but that if I see anything suggestive outside I am to tell you about it. Is that right?"

"Yes—I think so. I don't see how anything—that's understood," he decided more briskly; and, opening the door, passed through.

Left alone, Renshaw swung the typewriter up to the top of the desk, turned the small key that held it in place there, and resolutely attacked his mail. It was good to have real work to do, and to know that he could do it. It was good to feel that he was earning his way.

A mild surprise awaited him at noon.
He entered the dining room a few minutes after the summons of the luncheon bell, and found not only Campbell, Verity, and Mrs. Pardee at the table, but a strange woman seated at the right of the host. She was a gracious and even majestic woman, with a figure of the late forties, the snow-white hair of seventy, and a dark face and singularly brilliant eyes that might have been thirty-five. She graciously inclined her head when the young man was presented, but did not speak.

Renshaw bowed and took his place in equal silence. This, it appeared, was Madame Hvoeslef, whose passage to Europe on the twenty-second he had just engaged. He immediately decided that she was, in some way, a central figure in the mystery to which Campbell and Stanley had referred.

She looked the part. The most casual glance at her showed that she had been, and possibly was still, undergoing a severe nervous strain. She started uncontrollably at the lightest sounds. Her brilliant eyes held a look of anxiety that at moments changed to fear. Studying her, one subconsciously thought of diplomacy and intrigue, of spies, of Nihilists, of all the rest of the horde that make for action and movement in modern fiction and drama.

It was almost a relief to rest his eyes on Verity, though his dislike of her had increased since their morning encounter. But, at least, there was no mystery about her. She was discussing a new opera with Madame Hvoes-lef. Music seemed a passion common to them both. At Renshaw's left, Mrs.
Pardee poured her inevitable plaintive monologue into the young man's ear.

"It's all wrong," she was saying.
"And I've told my brother so from the first whatever happens he can't say that I haven't warned him but that's always the way with Davy I never know him to see anything that was coming until it came though I've spent my whole life one might say showing him the handwriting on the wall."

Renshaw pricked up his ears. This sounded more interesting than most of Mrs. Pardee's talk. He had lost the introductory sentences in his interest in this superb foreigner across the table. But another moment revealed the fact that Mrs. Pardee's topic was the sugar shortage that followed the end of the war. Her idea of meeting the shortage, it appeared, was to fill the cellars of Tawno Ker with barrel of sugar. There was space in the storeroom for an enormous supply.

Renshaw bent his head with gravity, but he ceased to hear her. He had returned to his own thoughts which, when they had their way with him, swung him back to the words of Jenks:

Wrinkles Vanish Before Your Very Eyes

Just think. In your mirror, before your very eyes, you see the wrinkles, age lines and saggingness vanish from your face. And it's such a simple and harmless treatment. Just mix a spoonful of powdered tarracoon with a spoonful of lemon juice. Apply to your face and watch the most marvelous change take place—in less than 15 minutes. See the horrid wrinkles, worry lines creases and bagginess quickly disappear. It is a wonderful, startling sensation. Only the actual experience could make you believe it.

The application is easily washed off. The result is far better than the most expensive and expert face massage could ever give—and the treatment costs less than three cents. Procure an original package of powdered tarracoon from your druggist, try it, and you will have the surprise of your life.—Advt.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have The Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefitted to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend for in almost every case it shows excellent results as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—

"Why! He's Nothing But Skin and Bones" "Marry Him? Never!"

"Quit kidding me, Agnes; when I get ready to land a man he's got to be a real man with plenty of good healthy flesh on his bones."

"Of course, I dance with Ed; he's a good enough fellow and I just feel sorry for him, but no skinny, hollow cheeked, spindly shanked lath is going to sail the voyage of life with me."

Cheer up, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt, emaciated men looked even worse than you do till someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm healthy flesh on their bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating weight producing tablets for skinny underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Albany Drug Co. or any real druggist anywhere
in North or South America.

And listen; if they don't put 30 pounds of good flesh on you in 30 days, get your money back—that's fair enough, but be sure—very sure that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.—Advt.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN WILL BE NAZED DURING MONTH OF MAY

Spring buyers, flocking to New York to lay in stocks of late summer and fall merchandise, might do well to take a last fond look at Madison Square Garden. When the visitors return, the historic garden will have become only a memory.

Workmen will begin tearing down the structure this spring, to make room for the new 28-story office building of the New York Life Insurance company. Before the end of the summer the building which housed the six-day bicycle races; the circuses, the three ring and the democratic convention variety included; the building which burst into international fame during the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the slaying of Stanford White, builder of the structure, will be no more.

The towered arena, surmounted by forlorn Diana drawing stringless bow against the north wind, will be reduced to rubble in a few months.

Madison Square Garden, there have been two buildings, was originally the abandoned passenger station of the old Harlem Railroad. Harlem trains from Albany in the late '60s were towed there, down Fourth Avenue from 42nd Street, because steam-power in the heart of the city was deemed unsafe.

Commodore Vanderbilt captured the Harlem line and subordinated it to his own Hudson River Railroad. The Harlem station was closed when he opened Grand Central station farther north.

P. T. Barnum, with a showman's eye, saw the possibilities of the deserted trainshed. It covered 32 city lots, the largest enclosure in Manhattan, and he leased it for his circus, opening its long career as a concourse for athletic meets, monster concerts and horse shows. It was also known under its present name from then on, save for four years as "Gilmore's Garden" during a tenancy of the bandmaster.

The trainshed was replaced by the present structure in 1889. The new building was designed by Stanford White, who more than a decade later was shot there by Harry K. Thaw. It was financed by a syndicate comprising J. Pierpont Morgan, D. O. Mills and other leading spirits in the Horse Show Association. It was formally opened before 17,000 people on June 16, 1890, with Edward Strauss and his orchestra and two grand ballets. The shows, political conventions, balls, mass meetings and national sporting events held in the Garden in the subsequent 35 years are familiar history. Also, during this period, the value of the building, which cost $3,000,000 to erect, dwindled to a mere $150,000 when the New York Life bought it in at foreclosure auction in 1916. The total consideration was $2,000,000, land and all.

Because the Garden never paid financially, it had to go.

WHAT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS IS AND WHAT IT STANDS FOR ARE EXPLAINED

More than thirty years ago, a group of newspaper producers gathered to discuss plans for a co-operative effort to gather important news and transmit it to each other. Among that group were Melville E. Stone and Victor F. Lawson.

The organization resulting from that conference is The Associated Press of today. These men were tired of the inaccuracies and frequently the partisanship which filled the limited telegraphic reports of their day and they determined that, if it were possible, an agency be established which would eliminate these undesirable features.

This week there gathered in New York another group of men, members of the presently constituted Associated Press, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the "A. P." in its present form. During the past quarter of a century, the Associated Press has grown into the world's greatest news gathering agency, yet never has it forsaken its original object, to eliminate, so far as is humanly possible, inaccuracies and bias in news reporting.

What is the Associated Press and what does it stand for? This is a reasonable question of readers who, even yet, are not familiar with the organization.

Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, in his address to the members at luncheon, answered this question in the following language:

"By a series of subtle executive encroachments I have succeeded in establishing in practice at least the right of exhorting you briefly on the ideals of the Associated Press on these annual occasions and on this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Associated Press in its present form, I have no intention of waiving any of my prerogatives—even usurped ones.

"I find that even within our membership are those who only dimly realize our purposes.

"I begin therefore at the beginning. You who are gathered here today are the Associated Press. There is no entity with a separate interest. The Associated Press is merely the instrumentality through which 1,200 member newspapers exchange news, one with the other and also collect original news through a staff employed by these same 1,200 newspapers.

"Your organization is purely democratic, co-operative and non-profit making.

"For purposes of administration you select fifteen newspaper men, connected with member newspapers who act as your trustees.

"The news service you require and receive must be non-partisan in the broadest sense, it must be without bias of any sort and it must be as accurate as humanly possible.

"These principles were laid down by Victor F. Lawson and Melville E. Stone and their associates more than thirty years ago and are the very foundation of the organization as it exists today.

"I do not of course, claim that there have not been the failings to which any human institution is subjected—but these have been inevitable errors and not an intentional departure from the principles laid down.

"We have no quarrel with the proprietary news gathering organization if they choose to furnish partisan matter to their clients. It could fairly be argued that the pronounced views of the owner of such an organization could properly be urged through his service as through his newspaper if he owned one.

"With the Associated Press the case is entirely different and designedly so.

"The members of this organization have no thought of delegating to the officers of the board of directors of the Associated Press the duty or the privilege of doing their thinking for them; of determining what is the right of any public question, of either advocating or opposing any cause or individual.

"Years ago Mr. Stone in publicly discussing this question said:

"There is an underlying belief that the American people are capable of self government. If so, they must be able to form a judgment. And we conceive it to be of the greatest importance that the people be given the facts free from the slightest bias, leaving to them the business of forming their own judgment.

"Now while our organization may have ideals and purposes of the highest type it is quite another thing to attain them in practice.

"The accurate news, the unbiased report must be the work of human hands and minds and the real triumph of the Associated Press has been the recreation of its wonderful working staff.

"These are the men that have made our dreams come true and I can never let an opportunity pass to pay a tribute to those quiet earnest men who each day comb the day in order that we may promptly and accurately know of the worthwhile happenings."

Judge McClellan Speaks

Judge Thomas C. McClellan, of Birmingham formerly of Athens, was scheduled to have spoken on "The Legal department of the Alabama Bankers Association" he being the attorney for the state association. He explained, however, that when his subject was agreed on that he was of the belief that his address would be delivered before one of the business sessions of the group, and that he felt his subject would be out of place in an after dinner address.

He lamented his lack of a subject, but proved his versatility by delivering an impressive talk on the Tennessee Valley and the relation of the banking industry to commerce.

Judge McClellan drew from his early recollections of his life in Limestone county several interesting reminiscences and told of the regard in which the Valley is held by the remainder of the state.

Banking he described, as the golden thread in the plan of commerce. Other professions and pursuits might be eliminated, and Alabama still could progress, but the state never could attain her place in the sun without the banks, he declared. Commerce he likened as second in importance to the worship of God.

Judge McClellan closed with a review of the success made in the national banking field by Wells and Harding, two Alabama bankers, and a remarkable tribute to Mr. Hohenberg, who was called entirely fitted to sit in the chair of the president of the American Bankers Association.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Gabe Oaks et al.

vs.

Bill Puckett, et al.

Circuit Court, Morgan County Alabama, In Equity

In this cause, it appears to the register that Gabe Oaks, one of the complainants has made affidavit that it is necessary to make defendants to the bill certain persons whose names and addresses are unknown; although he has made diligent effort to learn the same, and that these persons are heirs of Sam Oaks, deceased, and children of Mrs. Jane Cosby, deceased, and of Mrs. Tomp Drinkard, deceased, and of Mrs. Polly Stewart, deceased, who were sisters of said Sam Oaks; and that the bill is filed to sell for division certain land therein described formerly belonging to said Sam Oaks, and that these unknown heirs are owners in common of said land.

And it further appears to the Register from said affidavit, that the defendant I. C. Oaks is a non-resident of Alabama, and that his residence and address is Ethridge, Tennessee, and he is over 21 years of age.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made once a week for four consecutive weeks in the Albany-Decatur Daily, a newspaper published in Morgan County, requiring said I. C. Oaks and said unknown heirs of Sam Oaks, deceased, to plead, answer or demur to the bill in this cause by May 9, 1925, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

This April 9, 1925.

tions committee, reported three resolutions all of which adopted without dissent. The first urged the removal of the state banking office from politics and the election of the state banking board by the groups of the state, the board having the right of selection of the superintendent. The second praised the administration of State Superintendent of Banks A. E. Jackson of Hartselle. The third expressed the appreciation of the visitors for the entertainment given them.

Grover C. Graves, of Hartselle, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the nomination of G. I. Weatherly to be group vice chairman and his election was unanimous.

Messrs Rutland and Lowery of Chattanooga, extended an invitation to the bankers to hold their next group meeting in that city.

Mr. Weatherly expressed his appreciation for the honor conferred upon him.

President Vincintelli also added a word of appreciation for the entertainment and then led a group of bankers, from outside of Group One, in a lively chorus number, insisting that Messrs Bowles, Bloodworth, Hendrix, Harris and Fussell of the local banking institutions, contrary to popular conception, have ample style.

Following the banquet the visitors enjoyed a dance at the Country club.

Is Housework Keeping You Tired and Weak?

Thousands of tired, nervous, run-down women who must daily perform exhausting housework and care for children, would be astonished to learn that in most instances their fatigue, headaches, nervousness and haggard appearance are now entirely unnecessary.

For physicians say that in an enormous number of cases these symptoms are due merely to the lack of sufficient iron in the blood. And now that Science has perfected a new combination of iron, like the iron in the blood, it is, in many cases, easily possible for people to increase their strength, nerve force and endurance in only two weeks time.

Any doctor will tell you that without sufficient organic iron, your blood loses its power to change food into firm, healthy flesh and tissue. So nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good. You become undernourished, weak, nervous, and lacking in physical force and endurance.

What you need, then, is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to enrich your blood and give you strength. For Nuxated Iron is organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it just two weeks and notice the astonishing improvement. Money back if not delighted. But be sure you get genuine Nuxated Iron, with the letters N I on every tablet. This is the only kind sold under this absolute money-back guarantee. At all good druggists.

Saleswomen and Working Girls Find G. F. P. a Blessing

Forced to Constantly Be On Their Feet, Usually Means Indescribable Misery.

Girls and women, too, who have to work for their living and sometimes others, too, often find the time for their periods an awful burden, especially if they are among the victim of the dreaded malady—catarrh of the Generative Organs—which has now been proven to be the cause of nine out of ten cases of so-called "female troubles." At this time when they should get all the rest possible they have to stay on their feet. Only a miracle keeps them from being entirely disabled.

Those headaches, backaches, pains in the sides, cramps, spells of dizziness and nausea, and that awful tired out, don't care feeling are nature's notices that you are overdrawn and that something must be done to replenish your supply of nerve-force, energy and strength or you cannot continue to go and do.

For a quick and easy relief from distressing pains and sickness, for a sure return of glowing health and happiness, for a joyous reviving of buoyancy and energy and for a new realization of value in medicine for sick and suffering women, go to your druggist, secure a bottle of St. Joseph's G. F. P. use it consistently and see for yourself that the enthusiastic praises of the thousands of women who are using it are fully merited by this marvelous medicine which is doing so much to relieve sickness and pain among women and restore them to lasting health and happiness.

PALE, NERVOUS

West Virginia Lady Says That She Was in a Serious Condition, But Is Stronger After Taking Cardui.

Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.

"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.

"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

Cardui is made from mild-acting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general.

High Hammers To Victory Over Aggies; Mitchell and Rogers Hit For The Circuit

Albany high school rang up the second victory of the year over the Athens Aggies Wednesday afternoon as Malone Park when they grabbed the big end of a 13-5 verdict. Perie did hurling duties for the locals and issued but five safe blows while his team mates were garnering nine clouts of the safe variety. Mitchell and Rogers hit homers in the second and fourth innings.

The high school started in the first inning on the road to victory. The local lads scored five times before the dust of the initial frame was allowed to settle. The Athenians came back in a weak protest in the first half of the second with a lone counter. High scored a pair in their half of the second and five more in the latter half of the third.

Athens tallied in the fourth, fifth and sixth by virtue of local errors and timely hitting.

High scored their last counter in the eighth.

Singleton was the stick star with a double and a triple to his credit. Williams was credited with a double.

Perie whiffed six in the afternoon tilt and was a bit free with his pass-ports to first base, issuing four. Clemm struck out eight and gave five transportation to two.

The score by innings:

Athens	010	112	000
Albany	525	000	01x

Batteries: Clemm and Williams; Perie and Singleton.

Eddie Lewis gained his point in the Vol-Chick row on Wednesday but grabbed a punch on the nose in return. Eddie was being held close to second and when one of his team mates delivered a weak one to short, he started to third. Suddenly he thought it best to return to second and found that sack to be occupied by none other than Jenkins. The Chick shortsmith. Eddie went in with cleats flying and pinned Jenkins to the sack. Mr. Jenkins arose very much perturbed in spirit and delivered a sock to the diminutive Lewis' nose. Vols and Chicks surged on the field, but an armistice was soon signed and the game carried out.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

YOU may learn the probable date of baby's birth. What you should have and what baby will need. These and many other important things are fully explained in a wonderful booklet sent free to all expectant mothers.

This booklet also tells when and how to use "Mother's Friend"—the much talked about rubbing preparation which relaxes the muscles and prepares the way for a comfortable period during expectancy and for a more natural delivery at childbirth. "I think 'Mother's Friend' saved my life," wrote one enthusiastic mother. "I was sick not over fifteen minutes," declared another. You will find these signed letters, and many more, in the booklet which you will receive.

"Mother's Friend" has been used by three generations of expectant mothers. Get a bottle today and experience the wonderful effect "Mother's Friend" will give you!

FREE BOOKLET

Write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. F-6, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet (sent in plain envelope). Full directions for using "Mother's Friend" will be found with each bottle. "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores.

Typical Americans who enjoy Old Virginia Cheroots

The man who smokes Old Virginia Cheroots isn't afraid to say he likes corned beef and cabbage, if he does.

He's a keen, home-spun, democratic American who opines that four mellow, fragrant cigars for 10c is a "buy" no man can afford to pass up.
